Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Monday 27 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers at first in west, otherwise mainly dry, becoming brighter.

Today:
Mostly cloudy start with showers, mainly towards the West Coast, dying out during the morning. Otherwise mainly dry and becoming brighter with some sunshine breaking through. A little milder with light southerly winds. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
It will be a dry and cold night with clear periods and a widespread frost. Some mist and fog patches will form later tonight. Light winds. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Tuesday:
The mostly dry weather will continue with some bright or sunny spells. However overnight mist and fog patches will be slow to disperse. Winds staying light. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
An unsettled and milder few days with bands of rain crossing all parts, heaviest over west Highlands. Also some drier, brighter spells between the rain bands. Windy at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.